Michigan State volleyball enters 2003 after its most successful season in six years, and the Spartans have much to be excited about.

2002 brought a trip to the NCAA Regional Semifinal as one of the 16 best teams in the nation. The Spartans lost in that round to eventual national champion, No. 1 Southern California, but itwas a taste of post-season success and head coach Chuck Erbe said the 2003 edition of the team wants that and more.

"If you look at this group, we've improved every year," he said. "Last year's Sweet Sixteen appearance was certainly an accomplishment, but I feel that this group wants more, not only in the conference, but also on the national level when the regular season is over."

Michigan State finished 21-12 overall in 2002, earned its ninth consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament and ended the season ranked 22nd in the final USA Today/AVCA Coaches poll. The season began with a five-match winning streak in tournaments at home and at Western Michigan. Michigan State entered the Big Ten season with an 8-2 record, including a four-game win over No. 24 Kansas State. The Big Ten brought MSU an 11-9 record in a year when the Spartans struggled to put together any kind of lengthy streak. However, wins at Illinois and Purdue and versus Northwestern in Jenison Field House moved MSU to 3-1 in its last four matches of the regular season.

Michigan State faced George Mason in the first round of the NCAA Tournament in South Bend, Ind., and disposed of the Patriots in three games, 30-28, 30-13, 30-21. The next day, MSU met host team Notre Dame, and defeated the Irish 30-28, 30-20, 30-23. The win against Notre Dame was Michigan State's first in the second round of the NCAA Tournament since 1996.

With 12 upperclassmen on the roster and a demanding schedule from the first tournament to the last Big Ten match, physical, mental and emotional maturity will be key factors in the team's ability to achieve.

"I'm very optimistic about the talent we have on this team," said Erbe. "We have a lot of depth in every position, and it really comes down to two areas that could pose a challenge for us. Number one is injuries, which are always a potential factor. The second thing is handling the mental responsibility of being competitive for the top level of the Big Ten. I feel we're on the cusp of that, and it's the next step for this group."

A team with as much experience as the 2003 Spartans calls for some changes in preparation. "We're going to change our practice format," he said. "In the past we've done quite a bit of technical work along with play. With 12 juniors and seniors, it's not a mater of technical ability; it's a matter of playing better and more consistently for longer periods of time. So we'll practice the test, so to speak, and work more in the competitive situations in practice."

The deep roster the Spartans sport in the preseason will only help as well, Erbe said. "In every position on the floor, there is competition for that starting spot. That kind of pushing every day, whether in practice or a match, will help us because it allows an athlete to sustain her effort for longer periods of time. That's a key factor in a conference that's as demanding and tough as the Big Ten where each team, from one to 11, makes you play your best."

THE SCHEDULE

Five Big Ten schools, including State, were ranked in the final poll last season, and MSU takes on three of those other four teams in the first two weekends of conference play. Before that, though, the Spartans must face a non-conference schedule that includes matches against five other opponents that were ranked among the final 2002 top 25.

"I feel this type of schedule is a great motivator," Erbe said. "It's what carries you through the summer into the fall. You know you have to be ready from the first whistle. You don't ease into your schedule to get ready for the Big Ten."

The Carolina Classic in Columbia, S.C., features Michigan State, North Carolina, which finished 2002 ranked No. 12, and South Carolina, which received votes in the final poll. The next weekend, MSU faces Georgia Tech (No. 17), Nebraska (No. 5) and Santa Clara (No. 19) at Nebraska.

"That kind of schedule has to get you ready to play,"Erbe said. "It can wear you down, but I feel that we'll be able to manage it, given the maturity and physical development of our team—we rely on a lot of players—and because of the quality depth in our program."

The opponents don't get any easier in the Big Ten season, either. MSU hosts Penn State and Ohio State in the first weekend of league play. Penn State was picked second in the Big Ten Preseason Coaches Poll, while Ohio State finished last season ranked 13th. Oct. 1 has in-state rival Michigan in Jenison Field House, while the following Friday brings Wisconsin to East Lansing.

"It's a really challenging schedule for us to manage," said Erbe. "The good news is that the first four matches in the Big Ten are at home, creating a tremendous amount of excitement for the beginning of the conference season."

THE SETTERS

The competition for spots on the floor begins with the setters. While Erbe said incumbent NIKKI COLSON, a two-year starter in her third year as a team captain, has the edge, he also said he expects MICKEY DAVIS to push Colson.

"Mickey has been working really hard and I expect she will challenge Nikki," he said. "Nikki is our lead setter going into the season, but it's up to Mickey to show that her summer work has paid off and that she is on the same level as Nikki Colson. We want to have two great setters; it keeps the level of play at a high level on both sides of the net and means that they push each other to get better. I feel fortunate that we have two excellent setters on this team."

Colson, a two-year starter, set a single-season assists record last year, as she posted 1577 on the year and averaged 13.03 per game. Ranked among the top 20 assist leaders in the nation for the second consecutive year, Colson finished the season fourth among Big Ten leaders. She also added 16 double-doubles on the season, and was second on the squad in digs with 291.

"Nikki is a leader in every sense of the word," said Erbe. "She's the first player I've had at MSU who was unanimously voted captain; that's a tribute to her."

Davis saw action in three matches and five games in 2002, where she recorded three assists. A redshirt in 2001, Davis was a Volleyball Magazine Fab 50 and honorable mention All-American coming out of high school.

THE MIDDLES

Despite losing a 2002 all-Big Ten pick in Angela Morley to graduation, Erbe is confident that this may be the Spartans' strongest position in 2003, and possibly for the future, too. MSU sports just two newcomers and five experienced players, including a preseason all-Big Ten selection in senior JENNY ROOD.

"This is a position you absolutely have to have depth in," Erbe said. "I feel good about this season with these players."

Morley graduated from MSU as the career leader in block assists (552) and total blocks (637), and was second among attack percentage leaders (.314) and sixth in block solos (85). She also ended her career ranked fourth among all-time Big Ten leaders in block assists and total blocks.

The Spartans' leading returnee in blocks (107), Rood was second to Morley last season, and was also second in kills (414) to 2003 returnee Kim Schram. Rood hit for double-digit kills in 25 of the 31 matches in which she played, including posting a career-high 25 kills at Illinois on Nov. 22. Additionally, she hit .600 twice in 2002, against Indiana (14K-2E-20TA) and Notre Dame (13K-1E-20TA). She also hit .500 against USC in the NCAA Regional semifinal (10K-1E-18TA). Rood ended the season ranked 12th among Big Ten kills leaders.

"She is one of the best middle attackers in the nation," Erbe said. "I don't see anyone who is nearly as quick as she is. USC couldn't stop her in the Sweet Sixteen; they knew she was going to get the ball, but she's too quick. I'm expecting great things out of her, and she's expecting great things out of herself."

While Rood seems to have the M1 position locked up, Erbe said MEGAN WALLIN and BROOKE LANGSTON will battle to start at M2. Both players are sophomores in eligibility after sitting out 2001 as redshirts, though Wallin saw more action in 2002 as Langston struggled with injury.

"This is going to be an all-out competition, and that's good for us because those two are going to do battle every single day in practice," said Erbe. "It gives us depth in one of the most important positions on the floor."

Wallin, 6-3, will enter the spot first, said Erbe, because of her experience in 2002. She was a part of MSU's regular rotation in the last half of the season, and had career highs in blocks and attack percentage in the first two rounds of the NCAA Tournament. Wallin posted nine blocks; three solo, against Notre Dame, and hit for .750 (9K-0E-12TA) against George Mason.

Erbe expects Langston, a 6-2 player, to challenge Wallin for the starting position, though. "Brooke wants to play. Throughout the summer I've seen Brooke doing absolutely everything in her power to get back into playing. I think she's ready."

Langston saw action in seven matches in 2002. She posted a season-high 10 kills and hit .562 against DePaul in September. She also started the matches against Penn State (Oct. 12), Illinois (Nov. 22) and Purdue (Nov. 23).

Also in the mix in the middle is CAROLINE BELICH, a 2002 redshirt. Belich was recruited as an outside attacker, but Erbe said she may make the move to middle. Freshman ANDREA HANSEN, 6-3, from Andover, Minn., whom Erbe said is a tremendous athlete who is almost as quick as Jenny Rood, is also a potential middle player this season.

THE OUTSIDE HITTERS

The Spartans have to contend with the loss of Kyla Smith as an outside hitter, but all returnees have experience, height and jump well, said Erbe. Smith's graduation leaves a hole in the outside attack, as she played in 110 games in 2002, posting 2.99 kills per game, 86 blocks and 253 digs on the season.

KIM SCHRAM, SARA VILLWOCK and MICHELLE KOPKA all saw time last season, though Schram is by far the most seasoned of the three. She led the team in kills in 2002, with 444, an average of 3.70 per game.

"I am confident that these players give us formidable outside hitting," said Erbe. "And that's what we have to have. Any team that does well at the highest levels, whether in its conference or nationally, has strong, steady, consistent outside hitters."

Erbe expects Schram to start in the L1 position. At 6-2, Schram was 10th in the Big Ten in kills in 2002, and had a career night at Purdue in November, when she contributed 32 kills and hit for .538 (32K-4E-52TA).

"Kim Schram has the ability to dominate," Erbe said. "She doesn't have any physical limitations, and is truly a great outside hitter. I'd like to see her develop the mental and emotional skills that go hand in hand with her great athleticism. If she does that, we have a great player who will dominate her position."

Villwock, a 6-2 junior who transferred from Colorado following the 2001 season, played in just eight matches last season before taking a medical redshirt. She posted double-doubles in six of those, including 18 kills and 10 digs at South Florida and adding 14 kills and 18 digs against South Carolina in the MSU Volleyball Classic.

"Sara is very talented," Erbe said. "The key for her is to stay healthy enough to play at a high level every night, which will give her the confidence she needs right now. She has the desire and ability to be a great outside hitter."

Kopka played in 11 matches in 2002, and added 36 kills and 14 blocks on the season. She had a season-high eight kills with a .583 percentage against Oakland in MSU's second match of the year. Erbe expects her to be the lead on the right side for the Spartans.

"Michelle can be an outstanding player," Erbe said. "I want to see her give us solid blocking and to be a viable, consistent attacker. She knows she can play at this level and manage the responsibilities that are going to be thrust upon her. If she brings to the court the confidence and consistency she's developed this summer, we'll be fine on the pins, and that will help us overall."

Behind Schram and Villwock stand two experienced players in DIANA STEPLYK and STEPHANIE KNOPP. Steplyk, a 6-0 junior played in 11 matches in 2002, adding 12 digs and two service aces on the season. As a freshman, she played in every game in the last 13 matches of the season, totaling 93 digs on the year. Knopp, a 6-0 senior who became a regular part of MSU's rotation in the last 14 matches of 2002, will also spend time as a backup defensive specialist.

Two freshmen in 6-0 outside attacker JESSICA HOHL and 6-3 right side player KATIE JOHNSON may factor into the rotation here as well. Erbe said Hohl is a phenomenal athlete with great jumping ability. Johnson won the MVP at Michigan State's volleyball camp each of the last two years and is a great athlete, according to Erbe.

LIBERO

The introduction of the libero to NCAA volleyball last season brought a renewed emphasis on passing and ball handling, and that emphasis won't change in 2003. "That is one of the keys to success for our team this year," said Erbe, "and it all starts with the libero."

Senior EMMY MILLER, a 2003 captain, is expected to be the starter, after a solid 2002 season. She finished the year ninth in the Big Ten in digs (3.04 per game) and led the team with 331 on the year. Miller also recorded a career-best 20 digs against Georgia Tech on Sept. 14.

"She is a great competitor, and I'm looking for that this year," Erbe said. "I expect she'll have a great year. She was a solid, consistent passer and ball handler for us last year; this year, she has to be even better."

Right behind Miller is MARLEY BELLWOOD, who played defensive specialist last year. Bellwood played in 24 matches last season after spending 2001 as a redshirt. She recorded 15 digs at Illinois, and posted 14 in MSU's three-game sweep of Purdue.

"Marley had a lot of time on the floor in her first year of play, and she is a tremendous athlete," said Erbe. "She's a bit unorthodox and keeps you on the edge of your seat."

Bellwood's sister, TRACY BELLWOOD, and freshman MIKEN TROGDON are listed as backups at libero, though both will more likely spend time as defensive specialists.

DEFENSIVE SPECIALISTS

The 2003 defensive specialists primarily will be pulled from other positions on the floor, as STEPHANIE KNOPP and MARLEY BELLWOOD have been MSU's defensive specialists in the past. Knopp is expected to also spend time as a backup for the outside hitters. She saw action in 24 matches last season, and had seven kills and seven digs against Iowa on Nov. 15. She also had 11 digs against Penn State on Nov. 1.

DIANA STEPLYK, who is also listed as a backup for the outside hitters, may see time as a defensive specialist. Freshmen MIKEN TROGDON and TRACY BELLWOOD will back up the defensive position, as well as the libero spot.

COACHING STAFF

chuck ERBE
HEAD COACH
11TH YEAR

Chuck Erbe enters his 11th season as head coach at Michigan State, where he has developed one of the top volleyball programs in the nation.

Since his arrival in East Lansing in 1993, Erbe has resurrected the Spartan program, guiding MSU to back-to-back Big Ten titles in 1995 and '96, and nine consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances.

Michigan State volleyball's ascent has helped Erbe and his staff attract several Volleyball Magazine Fab 50 and high school All-Americans to the program. The Spartans boast four Fab 50 players in 2002: Nikki Colson, Mickey Davis, Jenny Rood and Sara Villwock.

One of the great technical coaches in the collegiate game today, Erbe has served on the U.S. National Team Review Committee since 1984 and is currently an advisor to the U.S. Women's National Team. In summer, 2000, Erbe led the Spartans on a three-week tour of Europe. During the summers of 1997 and 1998, he spent time in Aukra, Norway, working with that country's national team and coaches and giving coaching clinics. In 1997, he also spent 10 days in Colorado Springs working with the National Team.

Now in his 23rd season at the collegiate level with more than 500 career victories, including 213 at MSU, Erbe's goals are the same every season — win the Big Ten Championship, compete for the national title and provide an atmosphere where players can succeed in the classroom and on the court.

His 10-year record at MSU speaks for itself. He has guided the Spartans to a mark of 213-112, including a 21-12 record in 2002 and nine consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament where the Spartans advanced to the Regional semifinal, defeating George Mason and Notre Dame before falling to eventual National Champion Southern California. State was ranked 22nd in the final 2002 USA Today/AVCA poll, and 2002 senior Angela Morley was named First-Team All-Big Ten.

When he arrived at MSU, Erbe boldly predicted the Spartans would win a Big Ten title and be competitive with the nation's elite programs.

In just his third season at the helm of the MSU program, Erbe delivered on his promise of a title, leading the Spartans to their first-ever Big Ten championship — and league finish higher than seventh — in 1995 with a 19-1 conference record.

Not only did the Spartans take the Big Ten Conference by storm, but they climbed to the forefront on the national scene as well, earning their first-ever national ranking and climbing to as high as No. 3 in the polls.

In just its second-ever NCAA Tournament appearance, MSU defeated previously unbeaten Hawaii before 10,000 fans in Honolulu in the Mountain Region final. The come-from-behind five-game victory propelled the Spartans into the national semifinals and the national limelight.

Despite a five-game loss to eventual national champion Nebraska, the Spartans put together their finest season in program history with a 34-3 overall record. MSU had also posted its first back-to-back winning seasons since 1979-80, while its 34 wins in 1995 were the most since 1976.

Erbe was recognized by his peers for his efforts in revitalizing the Spartan program, earning 1995 Big Ten, AVCA District 2 and AVCA National Coach of the Year honors. In addition, he was tabbed as the Volleyball Magazine National Coach of the Year.

Several Spartans also reaped the rewards of success. Dana Cooke, Val Sterk and Jenna Wrobel were named to the first-team All-Big Ten squad, with Wrobel being named the Big Ten Freshman of the Year and earning a spot on Volleyball Magazine's Freshman All-America squad.

Cooke, Courtney DeBolt and Sterk also earned the distinction of becoming MSU's first-ever All-Americans. Jenna Wrobel joined the elite club in 1998.

The success of the Spartan volleyball program has not gone unnoticed as Erbe has helped turn East Lansing into a volleyball-crazed city.

Attendance figures have increased noticeably since Erbe's first season with MSU in 1993.The Spartans finished among the top schools in the country in attendance in 1995 and '96. In '96, MSU was sixth in total attendance (35,867) and average (2,391) while in '95, State was fifth in total attendance (31,799) and 12th in average (1,590). Last season, the school ranked 12th in average (1,802) with 25,229 fans rotating the turnstiles. It marked the seventh time in eight years that MSU averaged better than 1,000 fans per match, and was the eighth straight year that the Spartans ranked in the nation's top 30 in attendance.

It should come as no surprise that Erbe, who has won nine national titles at various levels in 28 years of coaching, was able to change so quickly the fortunes of a program that was the doormat of the Big Ten prior to his arrival.

The 59-year-old Erbe guided the Spartans to a 17-15 overall record in his second season in East Lansing, giving MSU its first winning campaign in over a decade and the most wins since 1983. MSU placed seventh in the rugged Big Ten with a 9-11 mark, its most conference wins ever and its highest finish in the league since 1986.

Erbe's first Michigan State highlight came in 1994 when the school was selected to its first-ever NCAA Tournament. Despite losing to Texas A&M in the first round, the foundation for a successful future had clearly been established.

Erbe, who has a 22-year career record of 523-233-3, first entered the collegiate scene with a 12-year tenure (1976-77, 1979-88) as the head coach at the University of Southern California where he compiled a record of 310-121-3.

He led the Trojans to AIAW National Championships in 1976, 1977 and 1980, and to the NCAA National Championship in 1981, the first year of NCAA competition for women's sports. USC advanced to AIAW or NCAA Tournament play in 11 of his 12 years as head coach.

Erbe's first two teams at USC won AIAW National Championships with a combined record of 72-1. His 1977 squad, which amassed a perfect 38-0 record, included six All-Americans and is still considered by many to be the best collegiate volleyball team ever assembled. During his tenure, USC players earned All-America honors 24 times.

Internationally, Erbe led the United States women's team in the 1981 World University Games in Bucharest, Romania. In 1979, he served as an assistant coach for the women's U.S. National Team. Erbe headed the U.S. women's team in the 1974 World Volleyball Championships in Mexico City, Mexico, and led the United States to back-to-back titles in the Pacific Rim Junior Championships in 1975 and 1976. The 1975 win marked the first time in volleyball history that a USA team defeated Japan at any level of competition.

Erbe began his coaching career in 1973 at Marina High School in Huntington Beach, Calif., where he helped guide the team to a perfect 20-0 record and the National High School Volleyball Championship.

After leaving USC in 1988, Erbe spent one season (1989) as an assistant coach at Illinois and from 1990 until his appointment at MSU, he served as the Director of the Great Lakes Volleyball Center in Chicago.

Born Oct. 12, 1944, in Tulsa, Okla., Erbe attended Ripon College (Wis.) and Kansas before serving as a hospital Corpsman in the U.S. Navy from 1964-68. After leaving the Navy, Erbe completed his degree in physical education at Cal State Fullerton (1968-72).

Erbe is married to Rebecca, who works in MSU's compliance office

quoting THE COACH

On the atmosphere in Jenison Field House:

Jenison Field House is a great place to play. There's great tradition in this building — it's the place Magic Johnson played, where Michigan State won a national championship in basketball.

I like that it's loud because of the metal roof and that the seats are so close to the court that it's almost as if people are sitting on top of you when you're playing. The more people you have in the building, the better it is. We've had 5,000 in there, and it's deafening. The energy level is fantastic for the players and energizes them.

And that's what makes Jenison Field House such a great place to play; it's a special feel, and gives you a certain intimacy that's lost in a lot of other larger arenas.

On community support for Michigan State volleyball:

We have a knowledgeable volleyball community in the East Lansing area, and we have a lot of support from families and young people. Our players are very accessible, and it makes it a homey environment.

There's a lot of identity with our players. People know who they are from the minute they arrive on campus and put the jersey on until the time they leave. It's not just that people know who our players are, though. Our players get to know community members and our supporters as well. We're fortunate to have the support; attendance has been better than an average of 1,000 per match in seven of my 10 years here.

We drew 1,800 per match last year, and this program is on an upswing. We're getting to the point where people will again come an hour before match time to watch warmups, and that's exciting.

IN REVIEW

MSU ADVANCES TO SWEET 16 FOR FIRST TIME SINCE 1996: The Michigan State volleyball team advanced to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1996 by defeating Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., in the second round of the NCAA Tournament Dec. 8. The Spartans swept George Mason in three games in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. MSU lost to No. 1 USC in the West Regional semifinal Dec. 12 in Santa Barbara, Calif., and finished the season with a 21-12 record. MSU has now posted 20-win seasons seven out of the last eight years, including the last two in a row.

KEEP ON BLOCKING IN THE FREE WORLD: One of the most dominant Spartans to roam the net in MSU volleyball history ended her career in 2002. Angela Morley broke the school record for total blocks Oct. 26 against Illinois, collecting 11 block assists to push her career total blocks mark to 589. Morley, who also owns the school record for career block assists, finished her career fourth in Big Ten history in block assists (552) and total blocks (637). She became only the fifth player in Big Ten history to amass at least 600 career total blocks. She was named first-team all-Big Ten and All-Mideast region for her efforts.

Morley had 12 blocks twice in 2002 (9/14 vs. South Florida; 10/4 vs. Ohio State), tying for the fourth-best performance in a single match in MSU history. She tallied 10 blocks in a key five-game win over Northwestern Nov. 29.

In addition to blocking, she was also a superb hitter. Her .337 hitting percentage was fourth in the Big Ten and she closed her career second in MSU history with a .314 career percentage (957 kills, 320 errors, 2,029 attempts). In the first round of the NCAA Tournament vs. George Mason, Morley tied a career high, hitting .667 with 15 kills.

ANGELA MORLEY

PERFECT SETUP: Co-captain Nikki Colson had a career year as a junior, setting a new season mark for assists in MSU history with 1,577. She recorded a career-high 68 assists against No. 11 Penn State Nov. 1 and ranked fourth in the Big Ten in assists and 17th nationally.

Colson recorded her 2,000th assist against Ohio State Oct. 4 and moved into fourth place on the all-time MSU assists chart (currently: 2,978 assists) vs. Michigan Oct. 30. She needs just 22 assists to reach 3,000 for her career.

Colson, the 2002 team MVP, also led MSU with 16 double-doubles (assists-digs) on the year, including two double-doubles in the first two rounds of the NCAA tournament. She amassed 60 assists on four occasions this season.

200 AND COUNTING: MSU head coach Chuck Erbe claimed his 200th victory at MSU Sept. 20 as the Spartans defeated Northern Illinois, 3-0. Erbe, in his 10th season as the Spartan mentor, is the second coach in MSU history to post 200 wins and is just 38 victories away from becoming the school's all-time winningest coach. Annelies Knoppers is the all-time leader with 250 wins in 11 years at MSU.

IF YOU WIN, THEY WILL COME: The Spartans were once again among the nation's leaders in attendance (12th in the nation, 1,802 per game) in 2002. In 14 matches this season, the Spartans drew 25,229 fans, which was the most since 1996. Over 2,984 attended the Michigan match Oct. 30, which was the largest crowd of the season and 11th in Jenison Field House history.

SUPER SOPH: Sophomore Kim Schram made a big splash in 2001 for the Green and White by earning All-Big Ten freshman honors with 285 kills, which was the fifth best total in Spartan freshmen history. In 2002, Schram proved once again that she is an integral part of the team as she led the team with 444 kills (3.70 per game).

She led the Spartans in kills in 12 matches and posted a career-high 32 kills at Purdue Nov. 23. The 32 kills tied for fifth best in a match in MSU history, and Schram became the first Spartan player to collect 30 or more kills since Jenna Wrobel slammed 36 vs. Wisconsin on Nov. 27, 1998. Schram hit for an impressive .538 with only four errors in the match.

The night before at Illinois, Schram recorded 26 kills, which was a career-best for less than a day. For her efforts, Schram was named co-Big Ten Player of the Week Nov. 25. Schram posted double-digit kills in 26 of MSU's 33 matches this season.

Schram collected her 700th career kill vs. George Mason in the first round of the NCAA Tournament as she pounded 13 in the match. She followed that with a 10-kill effort against Notre Dame in the second round.

ROOD AWAKENING: Junior Jenny Rood was unkind to opponents at the net last season as she was second on the team in blocks with 107 (28 solo, 79 assists) and in kills with 414 (3.60 per game). Rood hit for double-digit kills in 25 of the 31 matches she played in, including a career-high 25 kills at Illinois Nov. 22. She also blasted 24 kills in the five-game win vs. Penn State Nov. 1.

Rood switched from middle to outside hitter Oct. 18 at Wisconsin for the first time since her freshman year. In the first match in her new spot, Rood pounded a team-best 19 kills. Against Indiana Oct. 5, Rood hit for an astounding .600 (14 K - 2 E - 20 TA).

She recorded eight double-doubles in 2002 and was third on the team in digs with 249 (2.33 per game) and in kills with 322 (3.01 per game). Wallin also collected a career-high nine blocks (one solo, eight assists) Oct. 19 at Northwestern, and then added eight Oct. 26 vs. Illinois. Wallin was a mainstay in the regular rotation for the last 17 matches of the season, playing every game in that span. She started her career well, posting 11 kills (.562 hitting percentage) against Oakland in her first collegiate match. Wallin also had a career-best 13 kills against the Illini Oct. 26.

HITTING FOR NUMBERS: In 2001, Michigan State's season-best hitting percentage was .353 in a four-game victory against Winthrop. In 2002, however, the Spartans surpassed the .400 mark three times, including a season-best .442 in a three-game sweep of DePaul Sept. 6. State hit .429 in the NCAA Tournament first-round victory against George Mason. MSU was 18-0 when it outhit its opponents last year, including going 11-0 when it bettered the .300 mark. Against Winthrop, the Spartans hit .783 in game two without an attack error in the game (18K-0E-23TA).

SMART OFF THE COURT, TOO: Michigan State had a league-best 11 volleyball players honored as Academic All-Big Ten selections in 2002. Marley Bellwood, Mickey Davis, Emily Engel, Stephanie Knopp, Michelle Kopka, Brooke Langston, Angela Morley, Jenny Rood, Kim Schram, Diana Steplyk and Megan Wallin all received the honor.

NIKKI COLSON AND JENNY ROOD

EXTRA POINTS ARE EXTRA GOOD: Win a win in game four against Northwestern on Nov. 29, MSU continued its impressive play in games that go to extra points. The Spartans were 12-3 in those games in 2002. Ironically, two of the three losses were in the second games of matches against Northwestern, as the Wildcats won Oct. 19 (31-29) and Nov. 29 (31-29). The other loss came to Illinois in game one (40-38) on Oct. 26.

HOME, SWEET HOME: MSU boasted an 11-3 mark at home in 2002. The Spartans were 14-3 at home in 2001 and are 108-38 (.740) all-time at Jenison.

The Big Ten Conference is an association of 11 world-class universities whose member institutions share a common mission of research, graduate, professional and undergraduate teaching and public service. Intercollegiate athletics has an important place within the mission. Founded in 1896, the Big Ten has sustained a comprehensive set of shared practices and policies that enforce the priority of academics in student-athletes' lives and emphasize the values of integrity, fairness and competitiveness. Big Ten universities provide in excess of $68 million in athletic scholarship aid to more than 8,500 men and women student-athletes who compete for 25 championships, 12 for men and 13 for women. In total, Big Ten Conference institutions sponsor more than 270 athletic programs.

big ten UNIVERSITIES...

• are members of the nation's only conference entirely composed of institutions that are members of the AAU, a prestigious association of major academic and research institutions in the United States and Canada.
• have more than 70 Nobel laureates as faculty, students or researchers.
• enroll students of whom over 41 percent have graduated in the top 10 percent of their high school class, while 74 percent graduated in the top quarter of their class.
• have more than 3,500,000 living alumni and over 320,000 undergraduate students attending Big Ten universities.
• typically receive more than 8,000 employers each year who conduct recruitment visits on Big Ten campuses.
• house on their campuses eight of the nation's 20 largest academic libraries. All of the Conference libraries are interconnected through an online library system (the Virtual Electronic Library).

athletic programs in the BIG TEN CONFERENCE...

• have, since 1992, created in excess of 2,000 new opportunities for women student-athletes and established 28 new women's teams.
• had more than 8,500 student-athletes playing on over 270 teams in 2001-02. Those student-athletes received in excess of $68 million in direct financial aid.
• graduate at a rate of 10 percent higher than all Division I student-athletes.
• annually recognized more than 1,400 student-athletes over the past five years who achieved a "B" grade point average or better on the Academic All-Conference teams over the past six years, including a record total of 1,745 student-athletes during the 2000-01 school year.
• have won more than 185 team titles and 1,250 individual titles. In 1999-00, the Conference celebrated six NCAA team titles (men's soccer, women's volleyball, wrestling, men's basketball, fencing, men's gymnastics), the most in the last 10 years.
• were all ranked among the top 29 in the country, including a No. 1 honor for Penn State, in a first-of-its-kind analysis by The Sporting News (September 1999) of all 112 Division I-A athletic programs (that play football and men's basketball).
• showcased more than 250 events that were televised nationally, regionally and locally last year, representing over 550 hours of programming.
• are among the national attendance leaders in football, men's and women's basketball, women's volleyball and wrestling. During the 2002-03 season, more than 8.5 million fans attended Big Ten home contests in those sports.

Michigan State and Michigan share a long history of rivalries, both in academics and athletics. Beginning in 1990, the two state of Michigan Big Ten Conference institutions began sponsoring a "State Pride" season series to celebrate the in-state rivalry. Each University hosts a "State Pride Night" when the teams meet during the regular season.

A state of Michigan flag bearing the motto "Tuebor" or "I will defend," serves as a symbol of the volleyball rivalry with the winner of the season's face-to-face matches retaining possession of the flag for a year. The flag flew over the State Capitol on Sept. 18, 1990.

In addition to the State flag, each school's winning year is listed on its half of a special Michigan State-Michigan banner.

- The school that wins both matches will be declared the "State Pride" winner.
- If one team does not win both matches, the school that wins the greatest number of games will be declared the "State Pride" winner.
- If both teams have won the same number of games, the school with the most total points is the "State Pride" winner.

The inaugural season of the United States Professional Volleyball League (USPV) in 2002 offered three former Spartans an opportunity to continue their playing careers at the professional level. MSU standouts Courtney DeBolt, Val Sterk and Jenny Whitehead all participated in the league's first season. Sterk started 20 matches as a middle blocker for the Grand Rapids Force, while Whitehead started four contests and played in 18 matches at outside hitter for Grand Rapids. The duo combined to score 365.5 points, including the playoffs, for the Force. Sterk was the USPV Player of the Week in Week 11 and ranked in the top 10 in the league in scoring, kills and hitting percentage. DeBolt didn't see as much action on the court, playing in 10 regular season matches plus two playoff contests for the Chicago Thunder, but was vital to her team off the court, earning the 2002 Community Service Award. Her presence was particularly felt at local youth volleyball events where her tips on training and health techniques were a huge hit with the local coaching community.

Competing at higher levels after leaving MSU is nothing new, however. Several former Spartans have gone on to compete professionally, both in the United States and overseas. Michigan State boasts a proud tradition of placing its players on USA Volleyball squads. Among the former Spartans who have competed for USA Volleyball are:

"I think Jenison Field House is one of the greatest places in the nation to play volleyball."
- Chuck Erbe

The Michigan State volleyball team has played all of its home matches in historic Jenison Field House since 1993. Built in 1940, Jenison was the home of Spartan basketball until 1989 and is where Magic Johnson helped lead MSU to its NCAA Championship in 1979.

Jenison, which is currently the home to MSU volleyball, women's gymnastics, wrestling and men's and women's track and field, underwent extensive renovations in 2001. The volleyball facilities were improved to include a large new lockerroom, an expanded training room, a larger weight room and improved equipment room.

For volleyball, the court runs north and south to accomodate 5,017 fans. A curtain that separates the south end of the Field House from the playing floor can be raised to accommodate more spectators.

MSU has two SportCourt volleyball courts, one for practice and one for matches. The game court was redesigned in 1999.

Other recent improvements include new scoreboards, improved lighting and a new public address system. In the locker room, player accomplishments are recognized above the lockers, while senior players are presented with a stool from the locker room with their name and years played on it.

Since moving to Jenison in 1993, the Spartan volleyball team has posted a 108-38 record (.740) in the facility, including an 18-0 mark in 1995, a 13-2 record in '96, a 14-3 mark in 2001 and an 11-3 record last season.

Fans attending Spartan volleyball matches are treated to a truly spectacular event. A computer generates sound affects to compliment the energetic and enthusiastic calls of public address announcer Tim Berkey. The Spartan volleyball blimp is a featured attraction, as well as Sparty, the MSU cheerleaders and promotional events between games two and three. Fans can also get into the action with the "Ace" and "Roof" cards that are distributed at the door.

"I think Jenison Field House is one of the greatest places in the nation to play volleyball," head coach Chuck Erbe said. "In addition to watching some of the finest athletes in the nation, fans are treated to a great event at all of our home matches."

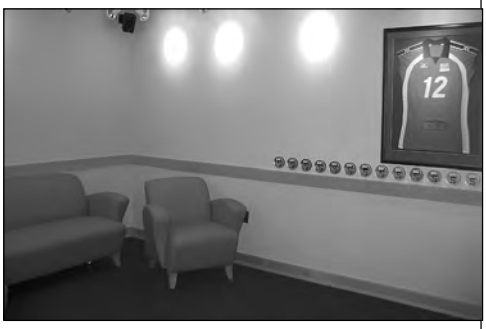
THE SPARTAN LOCKERROOM



MICHIGAN STATE'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM MOVED INTO A NEW LOCKERROOM IN 2002 AS PART OF JENISON FIELD HOUSE'S $8.2 MILLION RENOVATIONS. IN ADDITION TO A SPACIOUS LOCKER AREA, THE TEAM HAS A LOBBY WITH A WIDE-SCREEN TV AND FURNITURE, VIDEO EQUIPMENT, A COMPUTER WORK SPACE AND MAIL AREA.

the guest coach PROGRAM

Head coach Chuck Erbe has a guest coach sit on the MSU bench at each home match. In addition to getting a front seat view of Spartan volleyball, the guest coach can listen in on timeouts, intermissions and post-match meetings.

Among the dignitaries who have been a part of the guest coach program are the former First Lady of Michigan, Michelle Engler, President and First Lady of MSU, Peter and Joanne McPherson, Vice President Fred Poston and basketball coach Tom Izzo.

MSU PRESIDENT PETER MCPHERSON AND HIS WIFE, JOANNE, WERE ON THE BENCH WHEN MSU DEFEATED OHIO STATE TO CLINCH A SHARE OF THE 1995 BIG TEN TITLE.

FORMER MSU STAR COURTNEY DEBOLT RETURNED IN 2001 TO SERVE AS A GUEST COACH.

UNIVERSITY

Advancing Knowledge. Transforming Lives.

For nearly 150 years, Michigan State University has been transforming lives through high-impact, innovative teaching, research, and outreach initiatives.

The university always has sought people to join the MSU community who have the potential to lead the transformation of their fields and others' lives while also leading MSU's mission of anticipating society's needs and working collaboratively with colleagues and others to address them.

Today, as it continues to help students become responsible, knowledgeable, productive citizens, MSU is a major public university with global reach and extraordinary impact.

Research with impact

MSU emphasizes the development of practical ways that new knowledge can be applied to address complex societal problems. As an institution, it works always to boldly envision what is needed to apply the research of today to improving life tomorrow. And it acts on that vision.

The university's world-renowned research spans from plant biotechnology to nuclear physics to K-12 education. One reason MSU excels at identifying practical, innovative approaches to emerging needs is its long tradition of multidisciplinary, cross-disciplinary thinking and collaboration. This approach applies not only to the sciences, but also to the arts, humanities, and other disciplines. Breakthrough discoveries include:

- Developing the process used to homogenize milk
- Discovering Cisplatin and Carboplatin, two of the world's leading anti-cancer drugs
- Identifying a gene found in plants that helps them resist extremely cold temperatures
- Introducing and advancing the concept of community policing

Academic distinctions

MSU is known foremost for the quality of its faculty, staff, students, graduates, and friends – the people of the MSU community. These people discover and apply knowledge, work productively, assume the responsibility of leadership, contribute to culture and tradition, serve others, and live by examined values. They are who they are in part because of their experiences at Michigan State University.

Seventeen MSU programs and colleges were included in the 2003 graduate school rankings edition of U.S. News & World Report. Ten of MSU's specialty programs ranked in the top 10 nationally, including the College of Education's elementary education, secondary education, and rehabilitation counseling programs, which ranked No. 1. The Eli Broad College of Business and Graduate School of Management's supply chain/logistics program and the College of Education's curriculum/instruction program ranked No. 2.

MSU faculty have received Dreyfus, Fulbright, Guggenheim, MacArthur, Sloan, and other major recognition of their accomplishments.

MSU has had 16 Rhodes Scholars, 14 Churchill Scholars, 13 Truman Scholars, 11 Goldwater Scholars, seven Marshall Scholars, one Mitchell Scholar and one Gates Cambridge Scholar. Last year's freshman class boasted an average GPA of 3.56.

MSU is one of only 18 universities in both the prestigious Association of American Universities and the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Global perspective

Thinking globally always has been a priority at MSU. The university is recognized in the international community for its work in many areas, including basic human needs, education, international trade, sustainable agriculture, human and animal health and welfare, and the environment.

- In 1956, MSU was the first major university in the United States with a dean of international programs.
- More than 1,000 faculty members are currently involved in international research, teaching, and service projects and programs.
- MSU's Study Abroad program is largest of any single-campus university in the nation and offers more than 190 programs in

A great place to be

MSU is among the most beautiful academic settings in the United States. It is adjacent to downtown East Lansing, which bills itself as the "unbeatable combination of small-town atmosphere and cosmopolitan sophistication."

- 5,200-acre campus, including 2,000 acres of existing or planned development
- Culturally rich and diverse
- On-campus performing arts center, art museum, and natural history museum
- Highly competitive intercollegiate athletics program
- Extensive intramural sports program

Deep roots, world-class stature

At its founding in 1855, MSU was an experiment in higher learning, offering an education that was both liberal and practical. That land-grant philosophy still remains central to MSU's mission but has evolved beyond agriculture and engineering to encompass such fields as health, human relations, business, science, fine arts, communication, education, and government.

More than 315,000 alumni worldwide recall the MSU experience with gratitude and pride. The citizens of Michigan look to MSU to educate themselves and their families and to provide problem solving. Leaders throughout the world look to MSU for the values it brings to bear on every situation it addresses in daily life.

Michigan State University is known and appreciated as a place and a community that makes a difference in the world every day by advancing knowledge and transforming lives.

Board members, elected for eight-year terms by the citizens of Michigan, provide general supervision of the institution, including control and direction of all its expenditures and final authority in its governance. Under the state constitution, members are charged with providing a liberal and practical education for all students and a commitment to excellence.

A top university with a global perspective . . . an undergraduate experience that can serve the needs of excellent students . . . a place where research and outreach solve tomorrow's problems today. That is President Peter McPherson's vision for Michigan State University.

McPherson took that vision and his wealth of experience to the Middle East, when last May he was tapped by President George W. Bush to be a part of the president's team to re-build Iraq. McPherson was named financial coordinator for the Office of Reconstruction and Humanitarian Assistance (ORHA) – the principal financial and economic policy adviser to the ORHA. McPherson was granted a 130-day unpaid leave by the university Board of Trustees.

"The mission of land-grant schools like MSU is to share the knowledge and expertise generated inside its labs, classrooms and faculty offices," wrote Detroit News business columnist Daniel Howes on McPherson's work in Iraq. "I think they call that practicing what you preach."

His challenges ranged from restarting the country's banks to debt-relief negotiations to paying civil servants' salaries.

"There is a close relationship between economic freedom and political freedom," McPherson noted.

Since he was named MSU's 19th president 10 years ago, McPherson has worked with the Board of Trustees, faculty, staff, and students of the university to ensure that it remains affordable and accessible to students from all walks of life.

Under his guidance, MSU:

• annually sends the largest number of students to study abroad from any single campus in the United States. In making study abroad a normal and integrated part of the undergraduate experience, the university has added almost 60 new programs in the past five years, ranging from a few weeks to a year, including programs in China, Hungary, India, and the Czech Republic — in all, MSU offers 190 programs in 60 countries. The goal: study abroad experience for as many students as possible, including programs that in some cases cost no more than a semester on campus. How popular is it? MSU student enrollment in study abroad programs more than doubled from 776 in 1994-95 to 1,698 in 1999-2000 and is still growing.

• has undertaken a building project that will integrate a variety of science initiatives at the university and serve the public beyond the campus borders as well. The $93 million Biomedical and Physical Sciences Building, which opened this spring, places MSU's world-class research in a first-class facility that will become a hub of research, education, and technology – and the jewel of the campus science and research complex. Connected via tunnel to the Chemistry and Biochemistry buildings, and near the National Superconducting Cyclotron Lab and the new National Center for Food Safety and Toxicology, the building's high-tech classrooms, offices, laboratories, libraries, and lecture halls allow easy cross-disciplinary partnerships.

• continues its emphasis on excellence in undergraduate education. McPherson himself has joined faculty in teaching in the innovative freshman seminar series; his focus is on foreign policy. The university also has expanded its living-and-learning programs, which group students with the same academic interests together in residence halls so that they can learn from each other as well as from their faculty.

• focuses on research opportunities for undergraduate students. More MSU undergraduates than ever now join faculty in important research projects, adding a new dimension to their undergraduate experience. Each spring, some of the best are featured at a campuswide Undergraduate Research and Arts Forum, showing a wide range of expertise, from health and food safety to engineering and agriculture.

• has expanded the opportunities available through MSU's unique affiliation with the Detroit College of Law. For example, the law college and the university jointly offer a JD/MBA degree that can be completed in less time than traditional programs.

• continues to recruit some of the most academically talented incoming students in the nation. For example, the 20 Alumni Distinguished Scholars and University Distinguished Scholars named in 2002 have a cumulative grade-point average of 4.14 on a 4.0 scale, and their average ACT and SAT scores were 34 of a possible 36 and 1532 of a possible 1600, respectively.

• has increased gifts to the university per year from $50 million to more than $200 million and has increased research dollars to nearly $300 million per year.

PRESIDENT AND JOANNE MCPHERSON

McPherson, one of 25 members of a Kellogg Commission national committee that has made recommendations about the future of public higher education institutions, has served as a true steward of the land-grant tradition and philosophy. With the formulation of the university's six "Guiding Principles," he helped establish a framework for balancing MSU's teaching, research, and outreach roles. He learned firsthand of the importance of the land-grant university; born and raised on a family-owned farm in west Michigan, he worked his way through MSU and earned a bachelor of arts degree in political science in 1963.

His career prior to returning to MSU included being managing partner of the Washington, D.C., office of a large Midwest law firm and serving as administrator of the Agency for International Development (AID), deputy secretary of the U.S. Treasury Department, and group executive vice president of the San Francisco-based Bank of America.

At AID in the 1980s, he led the U.S. response to Africa's Great Famine. He now serves as co-chairperson of the Partnership to Cut Hunger in Africa. It includes research to develop higher yielding crops, ways to get information about new techniques to rural areas, and solutions to problems that threaten development such as poor roads and economic policies.

McPherson has been appointed by President George W. Bush to chair the Board of International Food and Agriculture Development. Additionally, he chairs the Advisory Board to the Secretary of Energy and is a director of Dow Jones and Company, the publisher of The Wall Street Journal.

His ties to MSU go back two generations. McPherson's parents were MSU graduates, as are all seven of his brothers and sisters and numerous nieces and nephews. His grandfather, then a member of the university's governing board, nominated John Hannah to the presidency of MSU in 1941.

President McPherson is married to Joanne McPherson, who, as first lady of MSU, has taken a leading role in establishing MSU Safe Place, a program to protect and assist in meeting the needs of victims of domestic violence. Under her leadership, MSU Safe Place also established a corporate education training program designed to assist employers and employees with issues of domestic violence.

She has been honored by the Capital Area Family Violence Coordinating Council for her contributions to domestic violence education, prevention, and treatment. The campus shelter — the first of its kind in the nation — received national accolades, and other universities have since launched programs to deal with the problems of domestic violence on campus. She continues to serve on the Safe Place advisory board.

In addition, Joanne McPherson is a leader in a campuswide initiative to increase awareness among students of the problems inherent in the illegal use and abuse of alcohol. She is the co-chair for the MSU Sesquicentennial planning committee and also is a driving force behind MSU's renewed effort to expand and improve on its traditional Homecoming activities. She serves on the Wharton Center for Performing Arts advisory council, is a member of the Potter Park Zoological Society, and received an Honorary Alumnae Award from the MSU Alumni Association National Board.

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR RON MASON

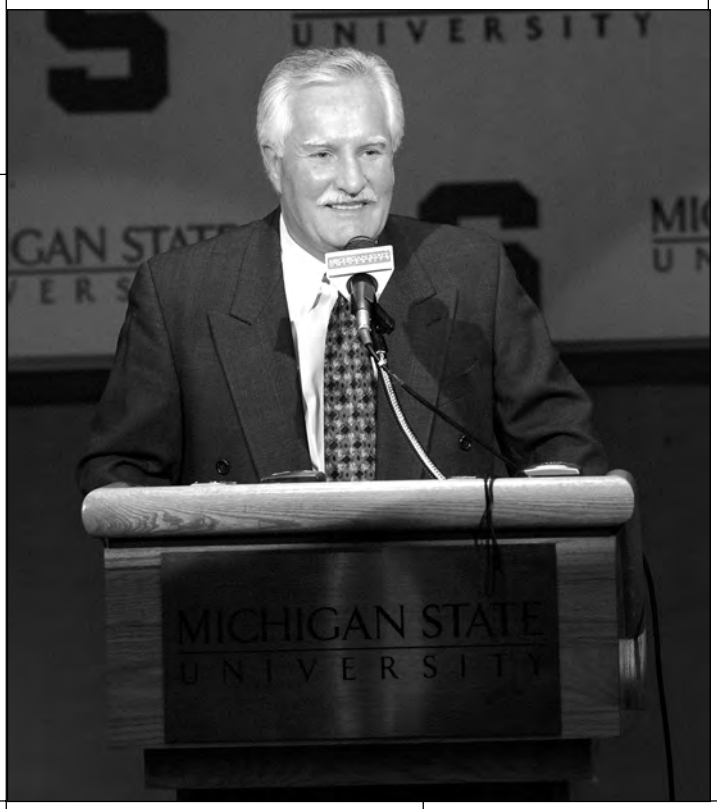
Ron Mason was introduced as the 16th athletics director in Michigan State history on Jan. 28, 2002, and assumed the leadership of the 25-sport department on July 1, 2002. Prior to moving into an administrative role, Mason spent 36 years behind the bench during which he established himself as the winningest coach in college hockey history.

"We were looking for an athletics director and we got a legend," said Michigan State President Peter McPherson upon naming Mason as the school's athletics director. "It became clear to us all that the candidate who best fit all of our requirements – and even more – was Ron Mason. The fact that he is the winningest coach in the history of his sport was a further verification of his superb leadership and management abilities."

A National Championship coach in 1986, Mason oversees a department where 17 of the 25 sports were represented at the 2002-03 NCAA Championships, including the field hockey team which advanced to the Final Four for the first time in school history. In addition, the men's basketball team moved on to the Elite Eight for the fourth time in the last five years and the women's basketball and softball teams made the NCAA Tournament for the first time since the 1997 and 1999 seasons, respectively. Michigan State finished 26th in the Sears Cup Standings, ranking sixth among Big Ten Conference universities.

Mason, the only coach in college hockey history with more than 750 victories, finished his 36-year coaching career with a record of 924-380-83. In 23 years at Michigan State, he posted a 635-270-69 mark. His career highlights include an NCAA Championship at Michigan State in 1986 and an NAIA Championship with Lake Superior State in 1972. He led MSU to 17 CCHA regular-season and playoff titles and guided 23 teams to the NCAA Tournament, an all-time record. In addition, he coached 34 All-Americans and 46 former Spartans who played in the National Hockey League.

In 1966, Mason began his coaching career as the first head coach at Lake Superior State where he also served as assistant athletics director. He guided the Lakers to five NAIA Tournament appearances, including the 1972 National Championship. Three of his other teams finished as NAIA runners-up.



In 1973, he moved on to Bowling Green, establishing the Falcons as a national hockey power. In six seasons, he led Bowling Green to three CCHA regular-season titles (1976, 1978, 1979) and three playoff championships (1977, 1978, 1979). His 1977-78 squad finished third in the NCAA Tournament with an impressive 31-8 record. The following season, his BGSU squad established a then-national record with 37 wins.

Mason's Michigan State career began with the 1979-80 season when he replaced the legendary Amo Bessone. The seven-time CCHA Coach of the Year led Michigan State to league regular-season championships in 1985, 1986, 1989, 1990, 1998, 1999 and 2001. He also guided the Spartans to CCHA playoff crowns in 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1987, 1989, 1990, 1998, 2000 and 2001. In 2001, the CCHA honored Mason by renaming the CCHA playoff trophy – The Mason Cup – in his honor of his contributions to college hockey and the CCHA's formation as well as his coaching success.

Among his Spartan coaching highlights are on March 12, 1993, Mason reached a personal milestone as MSU defeated Kent, 6-5, making him the winningest U.S. college hockey coach. One season later on March 18, 1994, a win over Bowling Green established him as the winningest college hockey coach in North America. In 2001-02, Mason's final campaign as the Spartan coach, he recorded his unprecedented 900th-win as a college hockey coach with a victory over Ferris State (Oct. 20, 2001).

Mason also had a first-hand perspective on MSU's biggest athletic endeavor to date, as he coached his Spartans against Michigan in front of a world-record crowd of 74,554 in an outdoor hockey game at Spartan Stadium (Oct. 6, 2001).

Mason coached MSU's only two Hobey Baker Award winners – Kip Miller in 1990 and Ryan Miller in 2001. He also coached the first college player – Joe Murphy – to be taken first overall in the NHL Draft in 1986 by the Detroit Red Wings.

Mason served on the American Hockey Association Board of Directors from 1973 to 1977 and is a former member of the NCAA Ice Hockey Rules Committee. He currently is a member of the NCAA Ice Hockey Committee.

He is active in a number of local organizations and charities. He is very involved with Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, where he recently completed a four-year term on the Sparrow Foundation Board and has set up the Ron Mason Fund for Pediatric Rehabilitation, which has raised over $300,000. He also served as the honorary chairperson for the Children's Miracle Network which has raised more than $11 million over 14 years, including more than $1.6 million in 2003 and has worked with the Coaches For Kids campaign, which has raised over $2 million in the last four years for a pediatrics emergency room at Sparrow Hospital. In addition, he is on the committee for the broomball game for the Legal Eagles, which benefits the Boys and Girls Club of Lansing and spent several years on the Lansing Safety Council.

Mason received his bachelor's degree from St. Lawrence in 1964, where he lettered in hockey for three years. In 1965, he received his master's from Pittsburgh. He was presented with an honorary doctorate from Michigan State in the spring of 2001.

For all his career accomplishments, Mason has been inducted into the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame (1994), Lake Superior Sports Hall of Fame (1996) and St. Lawrence Sports Hall of Fame (1999). In addition, the American Hockey Coaches Association honored him with the John MacInnes Award for his outstanding contributions to hockey in the spring of 2003.

Born Jan. 14, 1940, in Blyth, Ont., Mason and his wife, Marion, have two daughters, Tracey and Cindy. An avid fisherman, Mason also enjoys golfing.

CLARA BELL SMITH ACADEMIC CENTER

Academic, personal, and professional support is essential to college success. At MSU, Student-Athlete Support Services helps student-athletes reach their full potential.

Our philosophy is to offer an academic support program that will assist all student-athletes with the transition to college and integrate with the total university. This all-encompassing support continues throughout the student-athlete's collegiate career, until the day he or she receives a diploma, lands a job, or enters graduate school.

Academic counseling, career exploration, planning and placement, and academic assistance through tutorial programs are just some of the ways we encourage student success.

Being proactive rather than reactive, our staff does not wait for an academic crisis to occur. We gather important background information and build an academic profile on each student-athlete, assessing his or her needs in advance. We also stay informed on the daily progress of each student-athlete.

Freshmen and transfer student-athletes encounter a major transition when making the switch from high school or community college to a university. These students, while adjusting to their new routines, receive extra attention and support.

College is not easy. But with hard work and dedication from both the student-athlete and the support staff, the student-athlete can have a successful college experience.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SUPPORT SERVICES

Academic, personal and professional support is essential to college success. At Michigan State University, Student-Athlete Support Services (SASS) helps student-athletes reach their full potential. Our philosophy is to offer an academic support program, integrated with the University that will assist all student-athletes with their transition into college. This all-encompassing support continues throughout each student-athlete's collegiate career, until the day he or she receives a diploma, lands a job or enters graduate school.

The SASS program is integrated with the total University to assist student-athletes in all phases of college life. Seven academic coordinators, who are knowledgeable about NCAA and Big Ten regulations, and three learning specialists work with student-athletes from 25 varsity sports throughout their college careers. These staff members work proactively to help student-athletes keep on track with their rigorous academic and athletic schedules by building an academic profile on each student-athlete. They do this by gathering daily information on student-athlete academic progress, assessing individual needs, providing academic assistance through a broad tutorial program, and assisting those with special needs to help develop learning strategies.

With a nationally-recognized facility, the Clara Bell Smith Student-Athlete Academic Center, SASS offers a wide range of services, including academic counseling, computer labs with instruction, tutoring in all subject areas, career planning, community service opportunities, personal development workshops, assisting in monitoring athletic eligibility, providing priority registration and making sure that athletes are advised about current NCAA, Big Ten and University rules and regulations.

Freshmen and transfer student-athletes encounter a major transition when making the switch from high school or community college to a university. These students, while adjusting to their new routines, receive extra attention and support.

College is not easy. But with hard work and dedication from both the student-athlete and the support staff, the student-athlete can have a successful college experience.

JIM PIGNATARO
Associate Athletics Director/ Director of SASS

Jim Pignataro is in his second year as the Associate Athletics Director and Director of Student-Athlete Support Services at Michigan State. He provides leadership to 13 full-time employees who are responsible for managing academic support programs for student-athletes in each of MSU's 25 varsity sports. Under Pignataro's guidance, MSU's sports teams had the second-highest spring term grade-point average in 2002-03, since record keeping began in 1996. In addition, 65 percent of the athletics teams maintained a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher last year.

The 31-year-old also worked in Athletic Academic Services at Florida State University (1995-96) and the University of Tennessee (1994-1995) prior to his arrival at MSU. Born in Queens, New York, Pignataro grew up in Raymond, Maine, and graduated from Gray-New Gloucester High School in 1990. He was a multi-year varsity letterwinner in baseball at the University of Maine at Farmington. He received his bachelor's degree in interdisciplinary business administration/economics from Maine-Farmington in 1994 and a master's degree in athletics administration from Tennessee in 1995. Pignataro resides in Okemos with his wife Alana.

Michigan's capital region is home to more than 500,000 residents and a home away from home for another 500,000 visitors each year. Discover the lessor known surprises off the beaten path in the unique communities which make up the Greater Lansing area. Experience the character and culture that is Greater Lansing – from the historical facades of Old Town to the spirited ambiance of East Lansing; from the quaint shops of Williamston to the historic charm of Mason and the sandstone ledges of Grand Ledge.

As the site of Lansing's first permanent settlement, Old Town was nothing more than a small sawmill along the banks of the Grand River. Since that time, the area has become a cultural hub of art galleries, gift shops and restaurants which offer an eclectic mix of entertainment options. In recent years, Old Town has undergone a unique transformation as developers worked to combine the historic integrity of the past with the modern conveniences of the present. The Old Town area also hosts a number of community festivals throughout the year including Jazz Fest in August and Octoberfest in mid-October.

The Lansing Lugnuts are Greater Lansing's minor league baseball team. Over 10,000 seats await your arrival at Oldsmobile Park. Plus, throughout the year enjoy many other exciting events including community concerts and nighttime movies.

Want to add some culture to your stay? Then experience the Greater Lansing Symphony Orchestra. This professional orchestra has been delighting mid-Michigan residents for over 65 years. The GLSO provides music for the mid-Michigan area including symphonic, chamber, Messiah, Pops, and free Young People's Concerts at the Wharton Center for Performing Arts on the MSU campus in East Lansing. In addition, the GLSO performs at the Fourth of July Celebration at Oldsmobile Park.

Looking to add some family fun? Visit Impression 5 Science Center. This sophisticated hands-on science center is designed so kids of all ages can experience the physical and natural sciences firsthand. The center is housed in a 100-year-old building on the banks of the Grand River. From there, head on over to the Potter Park Zoo. It's a beautiful 100-acre park attractively landscaped in a mature oak forest. Located alongside the Red Cedar River, the zoo exhibits more than 400 wonders of wildlife. Rare East African black rhinoceroses, red pandas, Siberian tigers, snow leopards, mandrills, bongos, lemurs, penguins and kangaroos are just a few of the exotic and endangered animals on exhibit. A zoo for all seasons, families can enjoy new and natural exhibits; the Feline-Primate Building, Encounters Farmyard Exhibit, Wolf Woods and Bald Eagles. End your day by visiting Uncle John's Cider Mill. Sit back and relax in the rustic barn, and enjoy a cup of cider and a donut or a homemade caramel apple.

Wherever you're from, whatever your pleasure, Greater Lansing offers an appealing combination of local attractions, affordable accommodations, culture and character. There is an endless array of leisure opportunities to experience during your visit – community fairs and ethnic festivals; fabulous cuisine and riverboat cruises; professional theater and world-class museums; one-of-a-kind recreation and shopping galore. Enjoy the fall season with a stroll along a river trail, explore acres of glorious gardens, or schedule a tee time at one of the 38 golf courses. Whatever you choose, you'll find that the season offers many reasons to visit Greater Lansing.

The City of East Lansing

East Lansing's first houses, known as Faculty Row, were built on the college campus in the 1850s, and thereafter the city's history and growth paralleled that of Michigan State University. In those early days the village primarily served the needs of teacher and student. An early village planner was the college's world famous botanist, William James Beal, who, together with mathematician Rolla C. Carpenter, laid out an area just north of campus as a residential tract.

In the new century the rush to expansion boomed, and in 1907 "Collegeville" and adjacent neighborhoods were chartered as East Lansing. Many of the historic homes in the city retain the college gothic flavor of MSU architecture from the first quarter of the century.

The East Lansing Businessman's Association, many of whose members were faculty at the college, was instrumental in the expansion of the town and business district along one edge of the campus. Today this association, after a handful of evolutions, is recognized as the East Lansing Merchants Group, a group that demonstrates its commitment to the city through the many community activities it supports.

The East Lansing School District dates from 1901. Growth of MSU and its faculty resulted in a community with high educational expectations, and East Lansing soon became known for the quality of its public education. As word of the system's excellence spread, the city became increasingly attractive as a place for family life.

East Lansing is now more than eight times larger than at its founding and has a public school system of ten schools. Its population of more than 50,000 has evolved to include business and professional women and men, families of all configurations and ethnic backgrounds, educators, international residents, politicians, and artists, as well as MSU faculty and students.

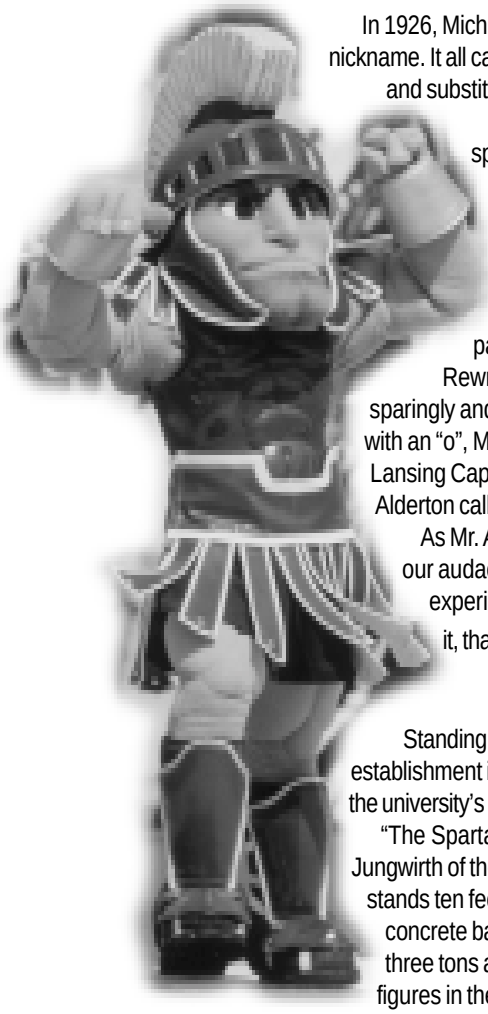
behind THE NICKNAME



In 1926, Michigan State's first southern baseball training tour provided the setting for the birth of the "Spartan" nickname. It all came about when a Lansing sportswriter imposed the silent treatment on a contest-winning nickname and substituted his own choice, the name that has lasted through the years.

In 1925, Michigan State College replaced the name Michigan Agricultural College. The college sponsored a contest to select a nickname to replace "Aggies" and picked "The Michigan Staters."

George S. Alderton, then sports editor of the Lansing State Journal, decided the name was too cumbersome for newspaper writing and vowed to find a better one.

Alderton contacted Jim Hasselman of Information Services to see if entries still remained from the contest. When informed that they still existed, Alderton ran across the entry name of "Spartans" and then decided that was the choice. Unfortunately, Alderton forgot to write down who submitted that particular entry, so that part of the story remains a mystery.

Rewriting game accounts supplied by Perry Fremont, a catcher on the squad, Alderton first used the name sparingly and then ventured into the headlines with it. (Incidentally, after two days of spelling the name incorrectly with an "o", Mr. Alderton changed it to Spartan on a tip from a close friend.) Dale Stafford, a sports writer for the Lansing Capitol News, a rival of the State Journal, picked up the name for his paper after a couple of days. Alderton called Stafford and suggested that he might want to join the Spartan parade and he did.

As Mr. Alderton explains: "No student, alumnus or college official had called up the editor to complain about our audacity in giving the old school a new name, so we ventured into headlines with it. Happily for the experiment, the name took. It began appearing in other newspapers and when the student publication used it, that clinched it."

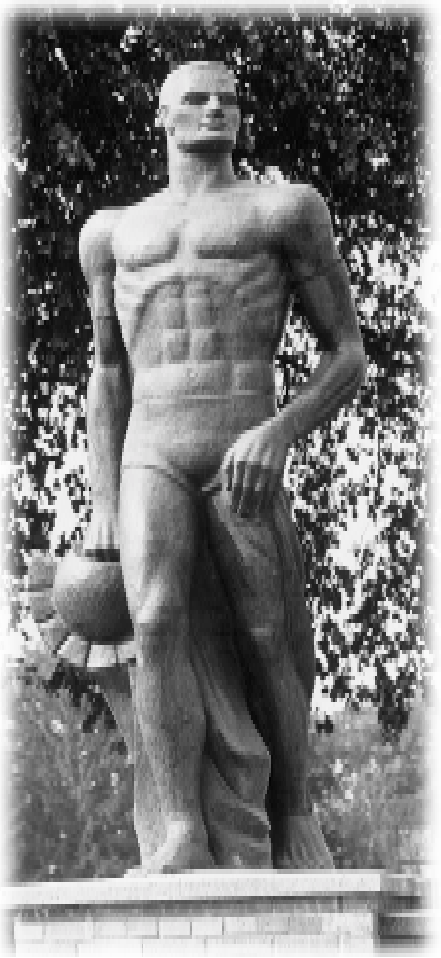
Standing at the entrance way to Michigan State's athletic establishment is "The Spartan," a huge statue which symbolizes the university's athletic teams.

"The Spartan" was designed and produced by Leonard D. Jungwirth of the art department, and dedicated in June of 1945. It stands ten feet-six inches, and is mounted on a brick-and-concrete base five feet-four inches high. The statue weighs three tons and is one of the largest free standing ceramic figures in the world.



Figures representing the 12 sports then included in the varsity program are incised on the base of the statue.

Popularly known as "Sparty," the statue is one of the favorite photo subjects of visitors to the campus.

green & WHITE

Details are sketchy as to when Michigan State athletic teams officially began using the school colors green and white. But records of the Athletic Association of the then Michigan Agricultural College show that on April 11, 1899, the organization took steps toward adoption of a green monogram, "to be worn only by athletes who subsequently take part in intercollegiate events."

It is generally thought the colors came into wide use with the arrival in 1903 of Chester L. Brewer as the school's first full-time director of athletics. Brewer also coached the Spartan football, basketball, baseball and track teams, the only varsity units in existence at the time.

sparty MASCOT

The seven-foot costume weighs in at 30 pounds, allowing enough flexibility for playful gestures and animation. Made of hi-tech materials, including a vinyl chest plate and fiberglass molds like the ones used for making Muppets, Sparty is a far cry from the many papier-mache heads that have popped up since the 1950's, mostly from fraternity efforts. The first official one apparently debuted in 1955 courtesy of Theta Xi.

Other versions were introduced from time to time. In 1984, Sigma Phi Epsilon introduced the first "gruff" head—sporting the unshaven look that still adorns many sweatshirts and jackets.

By contrast, the current Sparty costume is a state-of-the-art, full-bodied uniform that costs $12,000.

Today five students—their identities kept private—take turns being Sparty with one of three costumes. Because of the costume size, Sparty aspirants must be between 5-10 and 6-2 in height. Candidates who fit the physical needs are chosen after a hands-on process that includes tryouts and interviews.

The Sparty Mascot Program is run and funded by the Student Alumni Foundation.
